WILSON GIVES TURN-DOWN TO GEORGE CARTER

MILITARY AVIATOR EN ROUTE

GENERAL FUNSTON ADVISED THAT ARMY BIRDMAN IS COMING HERE

Military aviators will be topping the peaks of the Waianae and Koolau ranges before long. The army, which has threaded the roads, trails, and mountain passes of Oahu is now to explore the upper air lines, with a view to making the island impregnable to invading airmen, as well as to the fighters of land and sea. This news was received by General Funston last Tuesday afternoon in a letter from the war department, in which the dispatch of one army aviator for duty in Hawaii at an early date was announced. The exact time of arrival is not known at present, but it is believed that with the general movement toward carrying out the complete plans of the war department for the reorganization of the army, nor the report of the Macomb board called for the aid of aviators to defend Oahu's shores, nor has General Funston asked for flying men since taking over command of the department, but from time to time the Star-Bulletin has published inside information to the effect that the signal corps was planning to send an aviation detail here, and these "underground wireless" reports have now received the seal of official confirmation. "It seems that a military aviator has been ordered here for duty," said General Funston this morning. "I had not asked for one, and understand that the conditions here are not favorable for flights but a letter received from the war department informs me

Duke P. Kahanamoku, amateur champion swimmer for the 100-yard and 100-meter distances, bettered only one world's record yesterday, in the annual A. A. U. swimming meet held in the Alakea slip. The announcement made at the meet yesterday, and the statement in the morning paper, that Duke has broken the world's record for the 50- and 220-yard events, is incorrect, and officers of the Hawaiian Athletic Association, the local branch of the Amateur Athletic Union, fear that loose statements of this character will cast discredit on the times actually made here, and that the national governing body of amateur athletics will view with skepticism the results forwarded to the chairman of the record committee.

Hawaiians Show Honor To Kamehameha The Great Fraternal Brothers Decorate The Statue Of King

Loyal Hawaiians, members of Hawaiian Chapter, No. 1, Order of Kamehameha, decorating the statue of Kamehameha the Great.

SIMPLE BUT IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES

With simple but impressive ceremonies, the time-honored custom of decorating the statue of Kamehameha the Great was carried out by the members of Hawaiian Chapter No. 1, Order of Kamehameha, yesterday morning in the presence of several hundred persons, the majority of whom were Hawaiians. The members of the lodge gathered at the office of Carlos A. Long, Kapiolani building, and from there marched to the grounds of the judiciary building where the ceremony took place, each carrying leis and bouquets of natural flowers. As the members of the order reached the grounds and passed the statue, they deposited at its base or hung from it the leis and other floral tributes and when all was completed the statue of the monarch was enveloped from helmet to sandals with a mass of blossoms. As loyal Hawaiians gathered around the statue to place their offerings upon it, the familiar figure of a man who has been known for the past twenty years as the worshipper of the statue of Kamehameha, stood in the background and watched the ceremony. He watched the people intently as they decorated the statue, and he bowed before for so many years, and he heard them make speeches as if calling upon the statue to answer. But, as he expected, the figure remained silent, looking aloof and majestically straight ahead. The address of the occasion was delivered by Kaniaka Ahi Andrew I. Bright, president of the Hawaiian Chapter, who, after a brief history of the deeds of Kamehameha the Great, brought out in graphic sentences the aims and purposes of the lodge. Following this, the members of the order circled the statue and sang Hawaii Ponoi, the song bringing tears to the eyes of all—ah but the image and the worshipper. The former remained silent as before. The latter laughed.

FIRST FIELD ARTILLERY IS AT RED HILL

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, June 12.—Two batteries of the First Field Artillery from Schofield Barracks reached Red Hill yesterday and went into camp at that place, engaged in working out range and terrain problems as a part of the required instruction in the period of field training. The men took advantage of their proximity to Honolulu after retreat and, in consequence, the street cars were crowded with the "wagon soldiers" in their field uniforms. Major William R. Cruikshank is in command of the camp.

TERRITORY AFTER LAND VALUED AT $1,250,000 HELD BY BISHOP ESTATE

Action to recover land in the Ewa district on Oahu, held by the Bishop Estate and worth probably $1,000,000 to $1,250,000, is to be brought shortly by Attorney General Thayer. "It has been held by the Bishop Estate for some twenty-five years," said the attorney general this morning, "and undoubtedly was taken over on a misunderstanding in the first place. It was due to what might be termed an error or oversight in the description of the 'Ili of Kumuulu' which was awarded many years ago. "Assistant Government Surveyor Sam Kanakani has just discovered that the 'Ili of Kumuulu, according to the map drawn at the time the award to the Bishop Estate was made, contains only nine or ten acres. Under the impression that the map merely described that 'Ili, the estate took all the land it described, which is the Ahupua'a of Waiwai and includes a tract of 2522 acres. The map, description and data on the subject, unearthed by Kanakani, makes it very clear that only the nine or ten acres were granted to the estate, and that the remainder is the territory's property. "I am preparing papers on the subject now and will take it up shortly with the Bishop Estate. I don't know whether they will oppose the territory in seeking to recover, but if they do we will take the matter directly into court. We have a very clear case. If it were a question between private corporations or individuals the

McCandless To Be Named Soon, Say His Friends

That L. L. McCandless will be named governor within the next forty-eight hours was the confident prediction of his friends this morning. The receipt of undivided information by cable from Washington caused great delight to the McCandless Democrats. John McCandless, when asked as to what news had arrived, declined to say anything for publication, but expressed himself as believing that Link's chances are very good indeed just now. Both L. L. McCandless and James S. McCandless are expected to arrive on the Honolulu next Tuesday. "Sunny Jim" is returning from an extended stay on the mainland, and since leaving here has been elected to the Imperial Ovan of the Mystic Shrine, the stepping-stone to the highest honor in Shrinism. Local Nobles are planning a big parade and banquet in his honor and he will be met at the wharf by the Arab patrol and a band.

NEAR-BOMB EXPLODES IN HOUSE OF COMMONS AND SCARE IS FUNNY

(Associated Press Cable)
LONDON, Eng., June 12.—A remarkable scene was witnessed in the house of commons yesterday when a mock bomb-attack was made on Premier Asquith. The premier was speaking to the house when a male "suffragette" rose in the gallery and hurled a bag of flour at Mr. Asquith. The bag struck near the speaker's chair and exploded with a cloud of dust, but no harm was done. As the bag was thrown the members below, thinking the missile a bomb, were on the verge of a panic but the incident was over so quickly that there was little disorder.

IRWIN SHOWS DEMOCRATIC PROMISES BROKEN

(Associated Press Cable)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—That Democratic promises not to enact free sugar legislation have been broken was the intimation before the sugar investigating committee yesterday by Harry Irwin, the Hilo attorney sent here by the Hilo board of trade. Irwin, testifying before the committee, told of his work representing the Hilo board. He said his whole duty has been to attempt to influence the Democratic senators by giving them the facts and figures about Hawaiian sugar production and the injury that the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill would do. He explained that Hawaii has no senatorial representation and must of necessity have some plan for presenting its arguments to the senators from the various states. Irwin testified that he was a delegate to the Democratic national convention and believed then that he was given the sincerest assurances that the Democrats would not urge

S. ALBERT.

U. P. And U. S. At Outs

(Associated Press Cable)

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 12.—The Union Pacific today proposed a new dissolution plan for the Harriman merger system. Under the plan Union Pacific would exchange 38 millions of its Southern Pacific stock holdings, representing 21 per cent of the total holdings, for the Pennsylvania's total holdings of 21 millions of Baltimore & Ohio stock. The plan, it is declared, merely supplements the previous dissolution proposals and is intended to avoid the possible glut of dumping Southern Pacific stock on the open market.

Attorney-General McReynolds, who disapproves the dissolution plans, has asked the supreme court either to appoint a receiver for the Harriman system or to allow him to frame his own specifications for the dissolving of the merger.
